July 2019

June 30, 2019, Pension Funding Update

CTPF funds pensions through revenue returned on investments and from four external sources:

- the Chicago Board of Education
- the State of Illinois
- property tax levy
- member contributions

The current status of payments from external sources as of July 26, 2019, is as follows:

The Chicago Board of Education (CPS) was required to make a total payment to CTPF of $796.5 million for the 2019 fiscal year. As of July 26, 2019, CTPF has received $126.9 million from CPS toward the payment, and there is a balance due of $177.5 million. The balance is expected to be satisfied with additional revenue due from the State of Illinois and the tax levy (see below).

The State of Illinois has paid $207.9 million of the total $226.8 million normal cost portion of the overall CPS required contribution and an additional $18.9 million is expected to be received no later than August 2019. The State of Illinois has also paid its additional required contribution of $12.1 million. This satisfies the required contribution under Section 17-127c of the Illinois Pension Code.

CTPF has received $284.2 million in property tax payments toward the 2019 required contribution and an additional $158.6 million is estimated to be received, as tax revenue is remitted, no later than August 2019.

Members have paid $164.2 million (CPS) and $22.3 million (charter schools) for the 2019 fiscal year.

CTPF will update this information at ctpf.org as additional payments are made.

CTPF's Angela Miller-May Recognized by Crain's Chicago

Business

The Chicago Teachers' Pension Fund (CTPF) Chief Investment Officer (CIO) Angela Miller-May has been recognized by Crain's Chicago Business among 30 women selected to be part of Crain's 2019 Notable Women in Finance.

Miller-May manages the operations of the Fund's investment portfolio. She reviews asset allocations, develops investment strategies, evaluates and recommends investment opportunities, and analyzes valuation and risk metrics. Under her leadership, Miller-May has transitioned the portfolio by hiring top-decile-performing managers. She has invested in defensive sectors such as real estate debt and investments that promise enhanced returns and growth such as emerging markets. During her tenure, Miller-May has increased investment of assets with minority-, women- and persons with disabilities-owned managers to 44 percent from 33 percent.

"Angela is the right person to be recognized by Crain's. She has envisioned and realized an investment team and operating environment that is case-study ready for its results and its disciplined practices. She leads by example as she works with her team, the managers, and consultants to dig deeper into the issues and examine their practices to identify the better answer, not the easy answer," said Jeffery Blackwell, President of the CTPF Board of Trustees. "Her guidance in tilting the portfolio toward private markets, active managers, and women and minority investment professionals has resulted in a portfolio that meets return and risk objectives while providing opportunities and inspiration locally and globally."
